ITS TEACHINGS IN NORTH CAROLINA-AN OUTRAGE AT WADESBORO'-A MOB OF BLACKS ROCK SEVERAL HOUSES-ONE IAN SEVERELY INJURED-MORE AT-TACKS APPREHENDED.

We learn that there was a discussion at likesville, in Anson county, on Saturday last, between Hon. Thes. S. Ashe, Col. R. T. Rennett and J. M. Wall, Esq., Consergives, and Gen. Alfred Dockery, James ere considerably wrought up at the apmeals made to them by the Radical speakblack Radicals from Wadesboro' and cannot be disputed. ARBUTT WILDINGTON.-Wilmington, the a date this letter, the capital of New Disposes county, and by far the largest and a important business mart in the Parsley, Sr als of North Carelina, is situated on the bank of the Cape Fear Miver, about the advertible miles from its month. The try itself is built upon a line of lofty hills, nd its climate is noted for its health and almerity.

The first successful settlement of the place was made in 1665, by a band of coloosts headed by Sir John Yeomans. In & A R R what is now the State of South Carolina, then known only as the county of Carteret. The city of Wilmington enacted an important part in the war of independence, and afterwards in the war of 1812, but it was reserved for the last conflict to give it a name throughout the civilized world. The importance of strongly fortifying the mouth of Cape Fear River was recognized Barry Bros by the Confederate Government early in Worth & Worth the war. Accordingly Fort Fisher was erseted, and it proved one of the strongest defences on this coast.

Through this avenue to the ocean the Confederate Government was enabled to receive, by means of the low, swift, Englishbuilt blockade runners, an abundance of riss & Howell. supplies of every description. This in a measure revived the dormant spirit of enterprise. Merchants and ship agents from abroad flocked to the city; railroad trains were filled with cotton and naval stores; government factories and storehouses were built on a vast scale, and the constant bustle attendant upon the arrival and departure of the blockade-running steamers the the place the appearance of great compacreial activity.

On the 13th of January, 1865, Fort Fisher was captured after a desperate struggle, and from that moment Wilmingion ceased to be a point of great im- kegs, 13 pkgs mdse; 53,495 feet lumber. perfance. It is, however, making great strides towards assuming its former position. The Wilmington and Weldon Railroad has increased its business more than twenty per cent. during the last six months, and both it and the Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta Railroad are now under one banagement.
